

Complex Objections

Handle emotionally or structurally difficult situations with patience, boundaries, and appropriate escalation.

Use this guide while watching, practicing, and reviewing. Write notes in your own words, then confirm live procedures against the current SOP.

Learning objectives

- Recognize complex ownership and family dynamics
- Respond to scam and privacy concerns
- Separate empathy from legal advice
- Escalate cases that require specialist guidance

Key ideas

- Slow down when the situation involves grief, conflict, or financial distress
- Never pretend to be an attorney or financial adviser
- Confirm who can legally make decisions
- Document sensitivities so the next team member can respond appropriately

Practice and reflection

- Explain the main idea of Complex Objections without reading a script.
- Name one behavior you can demonstrate in your next seller or team interaction.
- Write one question you still need a manager or current SOP to answer.
- Record the next action you will take and when you will take it.

Source of truth

Current written SOP, role sheet, offer letter, and manager direction control when live procedures or role terms differ from training.
