

Tech Stack and Systems

Understand where lead data, calls, research, practice, time tracking, and team communication belong.

Use this guide while watching, practicing, and reviewing. Write notes in your own words, then confirm live procedures against the current SOP.

Learning objectives

- Identify the purpose of each core tool
- Keep Sandra as the lead source of truth
- Use Closer Lab for deliberate practice
- Escalate blocked work through the correct team channel

Key ideas

- If lead activity is not recorded in Sandra it is not operationally visible
- Use property tools for research and Sandra for relationship history
- Complete assigned tasks and next actions on time
- Ask your manager for the current SOP when a tool workflow changes

Practice and reflection

- Explain the main idea of Tech Stack and Systems without reading a script.
- Name one behavior you can demonstrate in your next seller or team interaction.
- Write one question you still need a manager or current SOP to answer.
- Record the next action you will take and when you will take it.

Source of truth

Current written SOP, role sheet, offer letter, and manager direction control when live procedures or role terms differ from training.

Quick review

Use these prompts for retrieval practice. Answer first, then compare your response with the guide.

1. Which application serves as the central CRM and "single source of truth" for the BMH Group?

Sandra

2. According to BMH Group standards, what is the status of a lead or interaction if it is not recorded in Sandra?

It does not exist.

3. Where are team members required to log notes after a conversation with a homeowner?

Sandra

4. What action must be taken in Sandra when a deal moves from one stage to the next?

The deal stage must be updated.

5. Where are daily tasks and follow-ups assigned by managers located?

Sandra

6. How often should a BMH Group team member check their task list in Sandra?

Every day.

Manager review notes
