

The BMH Offer Playbook

Explain how a direct property purchase exchanges maximum retail price for speed, certainty, convenience, and an as-is sale.

Use this guide while watching, practicing, and reviewing. Write notes in your own words, then confirm live procedures against the current SOP.

Learning objectives

- Explain the four offer pillars
- Describe ARV and repair-cost inputs
- Compare direct sale and traditional listing tradeoffs
- Present the offer without promising an outcome

Key ideas

- The offer is a solution with tradeoffs, not a claim to be the highest price
- Use plain English when explaining the math
- Confirm the seller values the benefits before positioning them
- Do not invent property values or repair estimates

Practice and reflection

- Explain the main idea of The BMH Offer Playbook without reading a script.
- Name one behavior you can demonstrate in your next seller or team interaction.
- Write one question you still need a manager or current SOP to answer.
- Record the next action you will take and when you will take it.

Source of truth

Current written SOP, role sheet, offer letter, and manager direction control when live procedures or role terms differ from training.

Quick review

Use these prompts for retrieval practice. Answer first, then compare your response with the guide.

1. How does BMH Group explain their offer to homeowners in 'plain English'?

They buy houses for cash; As-is with no repairs needed; No agents, commissions, or waiting

2. What type of extreme property condition involving 'stuff piled to the ceiling' does the guide explicitly mention BMH Group handles?

Hoarding situations

3. What is the minimum timeframe for a traditional property sale according to the guide?

60 to 90 days

4. The property evaluation in Step 2 must always be conducted in person.

False

5. BMH Group's offer prices are generally at or above retail market prices.

False

6. What does the term 'After Repair Value' (ARV) mean?

What the property would sell for on the open market if it were fully fixed up

Manager review notes
